

Typingagent |

Typing Agent is an 100% American-owned, nationally recognized, pedagogically-sound K-12 Keyboarding and Introduction to Technology program. It's a complete, adaptive learning platform designed to help students build essential keyboarding, digital literacy, and real-world technology skills in an engaging and personalized way. Our curriculums are created and yearly updated by real educators and our second-to-none Support Team is here to help you along the way.

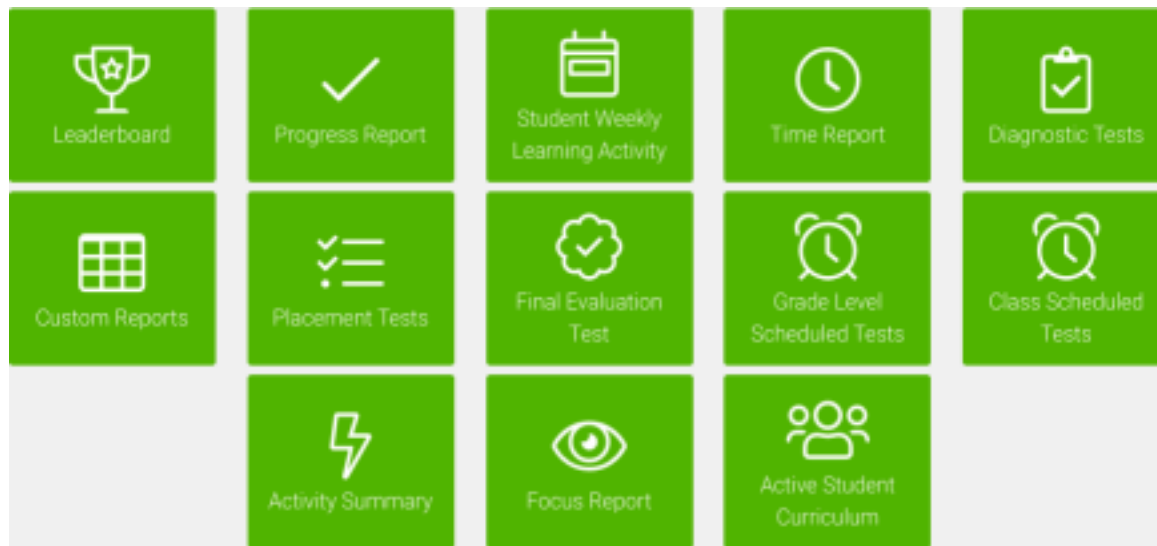

Why Teachers Choose Typing Agent

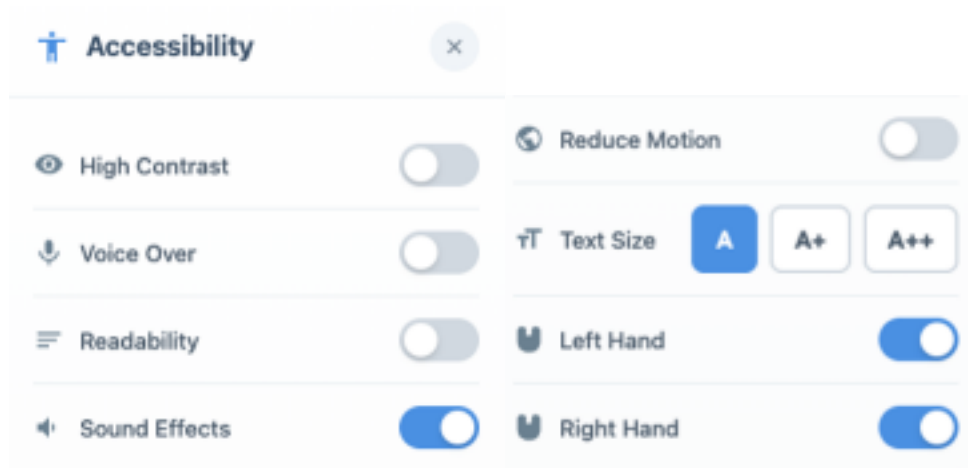

Typing Agent empowers teachers to meet every student where they are. Its adaptive curriculum automatically adjusts to each student's skill level, ensuring that beginners get the support they need while advanced students stay challenged and engaged.

Administrators and teachers also gain access to powerful reporting tools, allowing them to track progress at the student, class, or school level with ease.

This saves time while improving outcomes.

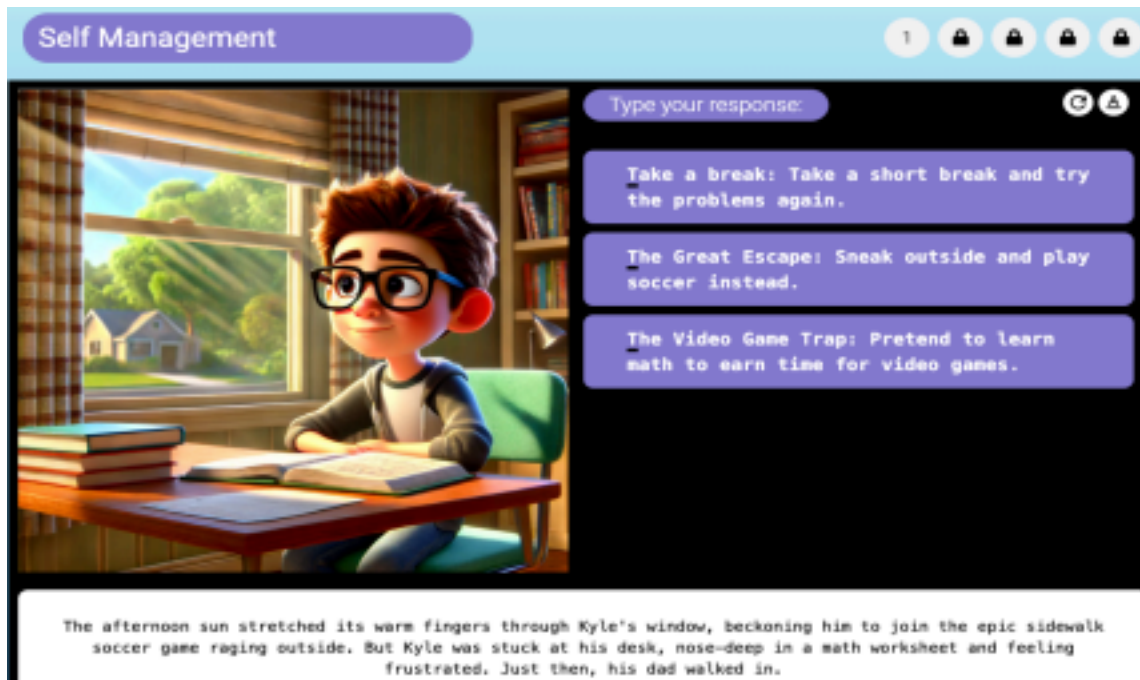

What continues to set Typing Agent apart is its focus on equity and accessibility. Built to align with WCAG accessibility standards, it includes features like text-to-speech, closed captioning, customizable fonts, contrast settings, and one-handed typing options. These and more options make sure that most, if not all students can succeed with us, regardless of their learning needs. Here are just a few of our options:

Engaging, Student-Centered Learning

Typing Agent keeps students motivated through gamification, storytelling, and interactive learning experiences. Students don't just practice typing; they apply their skills in meaningful, creative ways, making learning stick. This is a sample of a keyboarding lesson from our SEL curriculum:

Comprehensive Curriculum Offerings

Typing Agent includes multiple integrated curriculums that go beyond traditional keyboarding:

1. Adaptive Keyboarding Curriculum

- Teaches proper typing technique from the ground up
- Adjusts difficulty based on student performance
- Reinforces accuracy, speed, and muscle memory
- Includes extended typing activities like writing and real-world applications

This ensures every student progresses at the right pace and builds lifelong typing skills.

2. Digital Citizenship Curriculum

- Teaches students how to behave responsibly online
- Covers topics like internet safety, ethics, and decision-making
- Includes engaging videos, quizzes, and real-life scenarios

Students learn not just how to use technology—but how to use it wisely and safely.

3. Coding Curriculum (Basic, Advanced, and Yeti Code)

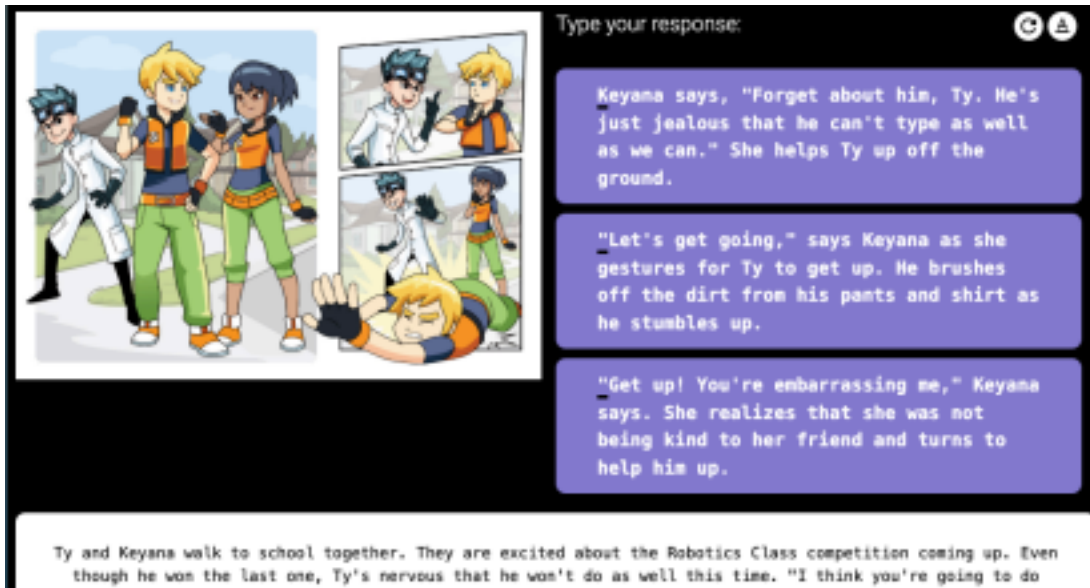

- Introduces students to coding concepts through typing
- Helps students learn syntax and structure while improving keyboard fluency
- Encourages students to use logic to solve puzzles in Yeti Code
- Bridges the gap between typing and real-world tech skills

This prepares students for future STEM learning and digital careers.

4. Type Your Own Adventure

- A story-based, interactive curriculum
- Students solve mysteries and complete challenges using typing skills
- Reinforces both keyboarding and digital citizenship

The screenshot displays a gamified typing interface. On the left, a comic strip shows three characters: a boy in a white lab coat (Keyana), a boy in a blue and orange uniform (Ty), and a girl in a blue and orange uniform (Keyana). The comic panels show Ty tripping over a rock, Keyana helping him up, and Keyana realizing her mistake. On the right, a chat window titled "Type your response:" contains three purple text bubbles with the following text:

Keyana says, "Forget about him, Ty. He's just jealous that he can't type as well as we can." She helps Ty up off the ground.

"Let's get going," says Keyana as she gestures for Ty to get up. He brushes off the dirt from his pants and shirt as he stumbles up.

"Get up! You're embarrassing me," Keyana says. She realizes that she was not being kind to her friend and turns to help him up.

At the bottom, a text box contains the following text:

Ty and Keyana walk to school together. They are excited about the Robotics Class competition coming up. Even though he won the last one, Ty's nervous that he won't do as well this time. "I think you're going to do

This gamified experience keeps students highly engaged and motivated.

Built for Every Classroom

Typing Agent is designed with flexibility in mind:

- Teachers can customize lessons, goals, and accommodations for individuals, small groups, or entire classes
- Students can adjust settings to fit their personal learning preferences
- Principals can scale the platform across classrooms or the whole school

What this means for your school

Typing Agent helps administrators and teachers do more than teach typing. It helps them:

- Differentiate instruction effortlessly
- Save time with automated grading and reporting
- Support all learners with built-in accessibility
- Prepare students for real-world digital success

With its blend of adaptive learning, engaging content, and comprehensive curriculum, Typing Agent is a powerful tool for any modern classroom.
